Phuket is one of the southern provinces of Thailand. It consists of the island of Phuket, the country's largest island. It lies off the west coast of Thailand in the Andaman Sea. It formerly derived its wealth from tin and rubber and now from tourism.

Phuket Province has an area of 576 square kilometers. The island was on one of the major trading routes between India and China.

The island is mostly mountainous with a mountain range in the west of the island from the north to the south. The three highest peaks of this reserve are the Khao Prathiu 384 meters, Khao Bang Pae 388 meters, and Khao Phara 422 meters

The most popular (and overcrowded) tourist area on Phuket is Patong Beach on the central west coast. The west coast has several sandy beaches. The east coast beaches are more often muddy. Near the southernmost point is Laem Phromthep, a popular viewpoint.
